

TWG President Message
February 2026

Hello Weavers!

Well, I for one, am feeling very fortunate to live here in the Pacific Northwest. The west coast in general is having much better winter weather than the rest of the US! -- possibly our WINTER is still to come, so I've crossed my fingers behind my back!

Every year in January, I venture a bit south to meet with some friends from Complex Weavers. We're not really a study group, but sometimes we do pick a topic. We each take a turn and share, usually with a presentation, and on day 3 we have an outing. This year we went into San Francisco (OMG I'm learning to UBER!) to the FOG Design & Art Fair, which was at Fort Mason, in two pier buildings. This show includes 60 art galleries from around the world showing a representation of their clients works. All kinds of art is presented, including some textile art. The most compelling work is from Susie Taylor. If you follow her on FB or Insta, you'll agree, her new work is stunning! #weavingorigami

I am making progress on my 3 shaft rug, but oh so slow! I'll post a picture on TWG FB.

We hope to see everyone at our Feb 13th meeting to enjoy hearing our own Nicole Turner share about Kente Cloth Weaving from Ghana. I will be zooming from SJI, and Janet will host our meeting. – Thank you Janet!

See you soon -
Weave away!
